

ABM to Mark 100th Anniversary by Ringing NYSE Closing Bell

September 9, 2009

CEO Slipsager to Be Joined by Chairman Herring and Founder's Son Rosenberg

NEW YORK, Sep 09, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- ABM Industries Incorporated (NYSE:ABM) announced that it will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding today by ringing the Closing Bell at the New York Stock Exchange. Joining ABM President and CEO Henrik Slipsager for the event will be Ted Rosenberg (son of ABM's founder, who worked in the company as everything from janitor to executive and corporate director), and ABM Chairman Maryellen Herring, among others. The Closing Bell event will take place at 4:00 p.m. Eastern Time today.

"ABM's is a remarkable story," said Slipsager. "From its founding in 1909 when Morris Rosenberg launched a one-man window washing business serving merchants on San Francisco's Fillmore Street, recording a first-day profit of $3.50; today, 100 years later, ABM employs more than 100,000 people and has annual revenues exceeding $3.6 billion and operations serving thousands of customers across the United States. We are proud of our century-long heritage of service. The men and women of this company strive every day to achieve those same ideals of service to our customers and stakeholders in new ways. With Ted and Maryellen, and on behalf of ABM's employees and shareholders, let us ring in the next 100 years of ABM's remarkable story."
